FOREIGNER HAD NINE MONEY BAGS.*Largest Denomination Half a Dollar and Slot Machine
Robbery Suspected.*OFFICER JOHN LOWE GOT THEM

After Hearing Before Burgess Evans
They Were Discharged as They Explained Everything in Satisfactory Manner—Both Were Crippled and Begged.

Visions of an important capture filled the mind of Officer John A. Lowe this morning when he arrested Vozo Yukoek and Van Modich, both of Pittsburgh, and found nine bundles of copper nickels, quarters and half-dollars upon them. The first thought that entered his mind was that some slot machines had been raided. There was about $50 in the lot, tied in in handkerchiefs, tobacco sacks and a pair of leather purses.

Lowe saw the men wandering themselves in the river on the west bank, near the Youghiogheny bridge and when they crossed to this side arrested them as suspicious characters. He was assisted in making the arrest by C. W. Flenister.

The search developed the nine bundles and a bottle of medicine. The news of the arrest soon reached the ears of Constable J. W. Mitchell, who also scented a clue and struck the trail.

When Burgess Evans appeared in police court he sent for Anton Rusckovic, who has charge of the foreign department of the First National Bank. Mr. Rusckovic questioned the men and learned their story.

Yukoek had a withered arm, while Modich is suffering from stomach trouble. They came in from Lehigh, Pa. this morning. The money represents donations from their countrymen, who are aiding them to return to the old country, where both have large families.

After hearing the evidence Burgess Evans ordered their release. Chief of Police Rottler had left word to have them held but Burgess Evans refused to permit this.

"There is no evidence against these men and we have no right to hold them. Let them go back to Pittsburgh. They are in pitiable circumstances and need help."

Several drunks of the common variety were given the usual sentences in police court.

BY SON, FRED KORN*Man Found Dead at Sumner's Spring
Some Days Ago, Was William Korn.

The unknown foreigner whose body was found last Friday at Sumner's Spring and buried in Chestnut Hill Cemetery, was identified last night as Wilhelm Korn of Lehigh, Pa. The identity of the man was established by his son, Fred Korn.

The man disappeared on September 11 and while the son tried to track him he was unsuccessful. The son came to town last evening and after making inquiries, learned that an unknown man had been brought to the undertaking establishment of J. E. Sims last week.

Fred described the man accurately, told of the trouble with his feet that made him wear cloths instead of socks; of keeping his smoking tobacco in a tin box and other details.

As the son is not able to bear the expense, the body will not be removed. About 20 years ago the dead man's wife committed suicide and he had frequently threatened to take his own life. There was no indication that he had not died a natural death.

OIL ROAD EXPERIMENT ON COTTAGE AVENUE*Methods Employed in Southern California Will Be Tried Near the Cottage State Hospital.

Southern California methods in road building are being tried in Connelville. Work has begun on Cottage avenue, between Fayette street and Murphy avenue, and if the experiment is successful it is probable that the same ideas may be carried out on other unpaved streets.

The thoroughfare, which is frequently used by the ambulance in approaching the Cottage State hospital, is to be covered with a top dressing of shale, after which it will be oiled with crude oil. Nearly all the roads in Southern California are built in this manner.

The borough is doing the work while Col. J. M. Reid has donated the shale and George Munson the oil.

It begins September 25 and the Western Pennsylvania delegation will probably leave on this date.

J. S. Douglas.*THEIR CLAIMS ARE LARGE

They Claim Douglas Has Not Divided the Proceeds According to Agreement—Judge Van Swearingen Named as Holder in Trust of Coal.

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 23.—John P. Conn and J. C. Fulton have entered suit in equity against J. S. Douglas and J. Q. Van Swearingen to secure an accounting and division of profits. Conn and Fulton, it is alleged, were in partnership in the sale of coal lands. The only connection Van Swearingen has in the case is the fact that the plaintiffs claim 200 acres each in coal which he holds in trust. Conn optioned 20,000 acres of coal and took Fulton and Douglas in on the deal. They made considerable money in their transactions and later secured a large tract from Howard Fleming of Fairmont. The suit is to recover on the profits of that tract. Conn agreed to take 200 acres and Douglas and Fulton were to take 400 each. The remaining 600 acres were to have been paid for out of the profits derived from the proceeds of this coal.

Out of a tract of 4,395 1/2 acres the plaintiffs claim 200 acres each, one third of the net profit of the sale, and $11,155 each from Douglas and also $23,337 each as their share of the profits on the sale of the Fleming coal.

"President Taft understands the conditions of the South and the reason for them. He appreciates the irritation caused in the past by the appointment of negroes to political offices in the South. He has gone farther than any other President looking towards the promotion of peace in the South. It is idle to say that with the settlement of the negro question in a sense all agitation will cease. Control of this question with any degree of prudence must be on a basis which will appeal to the enlightened judgment and sympathy of the best people of the white race all over the country. This should be done with the highest degree of protection and justice to the negro compatible with white political control."

COKE MERGER NOT ABANDONED.

Options Have Not Expired and Something May Be Doing.

MERGER MANAGERS IN REGION.

With J. V. Thompson at Uniontown on Monday and Alfred in the Region Yesterday—What Their Movements Are Interpreted to Mean.

Charles McKnight, the Pittsburgh banker and representative of the financial end of the coke merger proposition, and John W. Hollenau, who did all the field work in connection with the merger plans, made a flying trip to Uniontown on Monday, where they were in conference with J. V. Thompson and others, but the object of their meeting was not disclosed yesterday they were held in the region in the Southern end among the larger plants.

The popular impression in the Connellsville region is that the merger is dead, but as an old operator put it to a representative of The Courier, "A business proposition is never dead as long as its option life remains."

When the merger was in its initial stages abroad observers were not slow to say that it was sprung at the psychological moment; but subsequent events changed the situation materially. Still coke prices stiffened the backbone of the little operators and rendered them impervious to concessions of any kind. The rule of price depression and famine had ceased and the roof didn't need repairing now that the sunshine of prosperity appeared. When it rains again there may be no merger carpenter at hand with offers to fix the roof.

"The merger plans are not abandoned," said an operator who stands pretty close to the gate of knowledge. "It is not impossible, nor in fact improbable, that there will be a merger of the larger operations leaving the little fellows out. Such a combination would be able to effect a considerable operations and virtually control the open market and when necessary it could virtually control the smaller operations. There are more ways than one of doing this."

"You do not hear anything about the merger plans just now, because the work is not such as is usually done with brass bands. Keep your eye on October 1st. That date may develop something yet."

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Paw Paw, Mich.—"I suffered terribly from female ills, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I can now say I am a well woman."

Another Operation Avoided.

Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."

—Mrs. ALBERTA SPRELLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, dizziness, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

WESTMORELAND'S FAMILY FIGHT.

The conflict of authority between the Westmoreland county officials has reached the limit of interfering with the administration of justice, and the Court will be obliged to interpose its authority to harmonize the conflicting branches of county government.

In the hands of the Court lies the decision, and if the disputes come not to the bench in the ordinary way it will be the duty of the bench to take the initiative rather than see the interests of the people sacrificed and justice made a mockery of.

In defying the order of the Court,
the Sheriff has thrown himself liable to punishment for contempt. If he has any just claim against the County Commissioners, and the latter refuse to consider it, he should appeal to the Court.

The action of the County Commissioners in reducing the rate for boarding prisoners to five cents per day was a thin pretense for public economy at the individual expense of the Sheriff, and should not have been permitted by the Court.

The Westmoreland county muddle will have to be untangled by bringing with the last knot and untangling the mass thread by thread until all are loosed once more. This will require patience, perseverance, equity and Christian spirit, and it will perhaps be the duty of the Court to encourage the development of these virtues within the Westmoreland official family.

THE YOUGH SHOULD BE A GREAT PLACE TO FISH.

The placid editor of the Uniontown Standard is pessimistic about the character of the fishing in Pennsylvania. He says:

An exchange tells us that "Pennsylvania's fish law is urged as model for Federal statute." We presume that is because there are no fish in Keystone streams. But still it is a great place to fish.

We sometimes fish ourselves, but we do not want to discuss the number of fish in our streams, nor to insinuate concerning the indifference of the Editor Cook, who has been known to catch the bottom and in the latest silly element of the Yough. Like a merman, but we insist that the enjoyment of fishing depends upon the company as well as the fish.

For men will fish,
And men will die;
But if the bait
Be not too good,
Still men will fish,
Or men will try,
And bite takes tell,
Until they die.

Seriously, however, the Yough was once a famous bass fishing stream, and it could be no again if its waters were protected from rank pollution and its banks from utter forest degradation.

Every now and then some Prophet arises who tells his followers that the end of the world is at hand. The latest date set for this cataclysm is tomorrow morning. We do not advise our readers to lose any sleep over the matter tonight or to let it interfere with their regular breakfast tomorrow.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

United Press Special.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The popular conception of the blue-jacket as a man who blows into one part and then suddenly steams away clean broke, with a similar performance at every stopping place, doesn't appear to be borne out by facts. There is, on the other hand, a new kind of Jack who is really thrifty and saving.

Past Assistant Paymaster Jere
Maupin, who is assistant to the officer in charge of enlistments and disbursements at New York has just given out some interesting statistics tending to show the amount of savings by the enlisted men of Uncle Sam's navy.

The Jackies have long been afforded an opportunity to suit away a portion of their earnings through the Government paymaster. They can exchange "allowance"—that is, advance for the support of such a portion of their activity as they desire, while receiving the balance when on their cruises, or they can have the Government pay their families out of their salary while they are standing the seas.

Paymaster Maupin's statistics show that 27 per cent of the enlisted men of the navy are taking advantage of the Government savings idea. By law, only men serving abroad and subject to be ordered beyond the coast of the country are permitted to leave "allow-ments." According to this limitation, only from 35,000 to 40,000 men are allowed to the privilege. The average pay of an enlisted man is $30 a month; accordingly the men must receive annually about $360.

Of this sum, Paymaster Maupin states $250,000 is allotted by 7,700 men who save for themselves and 6,000 who allow the money to their families. It is therefore safe to assume that two out of every five men allot two-thirds of their wages.

Of course, many enlisted men prefer to put their savings into banks. Paymaster Maupin thinks a large portion of the men in their banking in private institutions, but there is no way of guessing at the number or the amount of their savings.

One interesting item is cited as an instance of thrift among the enlisted men. A young man was honorably discharged after serving a four year enlistment. When he came ashore he went to the navy pay office and cashed in his savings. They amounted to $2,000. He said he was going West and buy a farm.

A third route of transportation across the isthmus is about to be opened up.
The Panama canal railroad is already a formidable competitor of the Panama railroad and now Nicaragua is coming forward with a new line which, it is claimed, will give a service of about 20 hours between Monkey Point, on the Atlantic coast of the Republic, and the city of Colón on the Pacific, via Lake Nicaragua.

Generally speaking the new line will follow the route which was proposed for the Nicaragua Canal. The entire length of the road will be 115 miles.
Part of the construction work has already been completed, contracts have been let, and active work will shortly be resumed. The entire enterprise will be conducted under the supervision of three foreign engineers representing the syndicate which furnished the money. The syndicate on Lake Nicaragua will be led by Alexander McLean.

The Nicaraguan government recently made a foreign loan of $2,000,000 which will be used for the construction of the railroad. Besides affording a new transportation service, it is generally believed that the completion of the road will result in opening up an immensely rich and practically unexploited agricultural and mineral region.

land is available for any purpose. The frame building could be most advantageously used by any one wanting a large left space with good light, such as would be necessary for the manufacture of overalls, hose, shirts or sweaters. The brick building could be used by those engaged in the manufacture of articles requiring a fireproof building. The outside could be most advantageously used as a coal or lumber yard, builders' supplies, or small works or factories where it is desirable to have the building close to a large population. This property is located on one of the best streets in the town, has a mountain creek running through it, has also city water, sewers and gas. The owners are very anxious to get this property occupied, and a most reasonable proposition will be made to those who become the first tenants. J. B. HOGG, Agent. 23sept-12 and richer designs than is seen in this season's product of the loom. We are showing an attractive assortment of Velvets, Axminsters, Body Brussels, Tapestries in Rugs and Carpets that will lend much beauty to any home. Our store has always had a reputation for handling only first class floor coverings and the unusual beauty of this season's designs will make our carpets and rugs all the more desirable. If you are considering any purchase along this line, it will be to your interest to come here and make comparisons. We carry a full line and our prices

Bright New Silks

While this is decidedly a plain color season, we have never in the history of our store shown such an extravagant assortment of silks. The new colorings of the season and delicate evening dresses in pastel shades are here galore. All lovers of fine dress will take a special delight in call-fer suggestions for your new silk dress—your evening gown, or any garment that merits quality.

Fall Trimnings

The masterful art of Dress Trimnings has had full expression in these. Quite a departure from those of last season and decidedly more beautiful. An attempt to describe their beauty would be useless. Jet is prominent among trimmings and is shown in many new ideas. Bands, Seperable Ornaments, Edgings, Fringes, Bugles, etc., are a few designs. Dainty and heavy embroidered bands with a touch of metal or jet are also largely shown. Our collection embraces extensive varieties from the less expensive numbers up to fine importations as high as seven dollars per yard.

THE FOREIGN PUPIL QUESTION IS UP.

Scottsdale Board of Education
Desire to Settle Vexing Problem.

MILL TOWN MILLS ARE ACTIVE

Another New Residence For a Mill
West of Town—Chicken and Waffle Season is Open—Town is Extremely Good.

SCOTSDALE, Sept. 22.—The meeting of the Scottsdale Board of Education, outside of paying the teachers' wages and other bills for the first month of school, was given over largely to a discussion of the presence of pupils from without the borough who stay in town during the week and attend school as residents, and some others who attend directly from outside of the borough, but who have not registered or been registered, nor coming in from other districts. The members of the Board were of the opinion that it will be well to settle a vexing question that has existed for several years along this line, as it is not the intention of the Board to educate pupils from other places unless they are paid for the same as pupils who attend from town. There are some who live with relatives in town and attend school and others who are sent from other districts and it has been the custom of the Board to charge a rate of tuition based on the expenses of maintaining the schools for the local resident pupils. It is likely that those who have pupils living in town during the week and attending school may be asked to sign affidavits that the pupils are bona fide residents. This will be a thing easily done, and will set the pupils, the householders and the School Board on a proper footing.

Chicken and Waffles Coming.
Oh, for the chicken and waffle season comes again, following close upon the heels of the succulent oyster. The season will be opened in Scottsdale, which is a great chicken and waffle eating town, by the Ladies of the Maccabees who will give a chicken and waffle feed at the Delavan restaurant on the evening of Friday, Oct. 8.

Town is Very Good.
The town is on its good behavior for several days past, and not a solitary disorder, placed there for disturbing the sanctity of the peace, has been in the case, for the town is in the Borough Hotel, presided over by W. E. Henry. The only guests in a long time were the Niles, Ohio, pair. The town is behaving itself well, and the police are happy in the presence of so much peace.

Went to Uniontown Today.
Justice of the Peace John C. Brownfield, of East Scottsdale, who deals out the law for the people of Upper Tyrone township, took an early street car for Uniontown today and is spending the day on business among the lawgivers of that burg.

The Roads Are Dry.
The farmers particularly are looking anxiously for rain these days, even of them wanting the moisture, but others not wanting it very badly on account of cutting late feed crops, and all would see rain without complaint just now. The stage of the small streams is very low and the roads are thick with dust. The country some almost as much parched as it was last year and until this morning promises of rain, both printed and shown in the heavens, have failed to make good.

Mills Are Active Now.
All the mills about Scottsdale, except the cotton plant, which seems to run no longer in the industrial world, are running full time. The sheet mills are particularly active and seem to be trying to make up for the slow times that were in the past. The spinning plant of the Scottsdale plant is proving a great success, and there is so much foreign trade, with its extra baling and packing that a big addition is being built for storage and shipping purposes. Four out of the six galvanizing pots are being operated, and the other two will be going very soon.

Building a New Home.
Lumber has been taken to the Christian farm west of town, to build a new house there, by one of the Christian boys. This is another addition to a community that is building up very rapidly, and where there are pleasant residence acreages close to town.

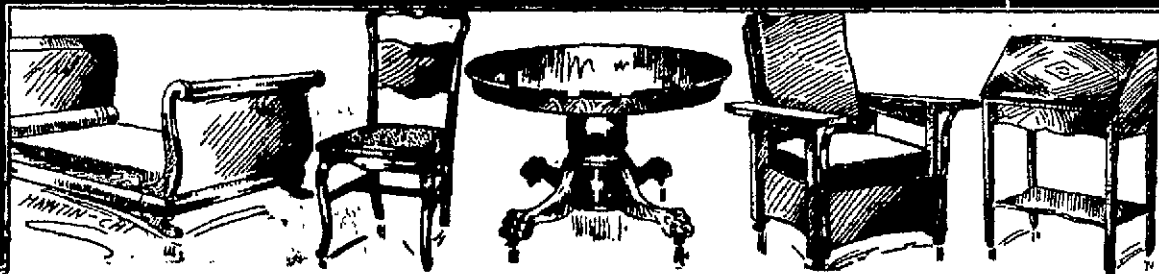

Going to the Exposition.
There were plenty of people down at the station this morning to take in the excursion to the Pittsburgh exposition, which will be a feature of every Thursday until the big Western Pennsylvania show is closed the latter part of next month.

Dr. Cartwright's Lecture.
Dr. C. L. E. Cartwright, former pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Scottsdale and now of Pittsburgh, who was to have lectured here a week ago but was prevented on account of illness, is scheduled to lecture tomorrow evening at the church on the subject, "Fores That Develop."

Will Give a Banquet.
Quite an elaborate banquet has been planned by the membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. for next Monday evening. The feed will be at the Reed banquet hall of the Reed block.

BOMBARD COOK WITH QUESTIONS.

Explorer Is Cross-Examined by Small Army of Interviewers.

REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT PEARY

Discoverer of North Pole Submits Cheerfully to Ordeal and Clears Up Some Details Concerning His Polar Dash—Recognized by City.

New York, Sept. 23.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria, submitted cheerfully to one of the severest cross-examinations since he announced his discovery of the north pole.

The ordeal of the interview, which was conducted by forty newspaper representatives, including several from foreign newspapers, proved at least that he was not afraid to meet the public. Incidentally the city of New York officially recognized his achievement when the board of aldermen passed a resolution commemorating his discovery and providing for a public welcome at the city hall. The date of the reception will be announced later.

The interviewers were rather severe in regard to details, but nothing indicated that the polar traveler's memory was at fault even in the most minute particulars. Not once did he refuse to reply except when the name of Commander Peary was broached. Even then, he said that he had always and did now consider Peary as his friend, but controversial subjects in connection with his rival he avoided entirely, saying that they could wait.

No Cause for Bitterness. "Did anything ever occur in the life of yourself and Mr. Peary that would create an enmity or bitterness between you?" Dr. Cook was asked. "No, nothing whatever that I know of."

"Do you look upon Commander Peary as a friend or as an enemy?" "I must say I do not know. I have treated Mr. Peary as a friend and until I know more about the situation I shall continue to do the same."

"Did you ever say anything in Elah that indicated that you feared for your life if he got there?" "No."

"Would you be willing to meet Peary in a debate when he gets here?" "As far as I am concerned the Peary incident is closed. Mr. Peary is not the dictator of my affairs and I do not care to say anything further about him."

Was your determination of the pole solely by an observation of the sun's altitude, or did you take observations of the pole star twelve hours apart, and by the determination of the celestial pole midway between the two positions prove the accuracy of your position on the terrestrial pole?"

"How are you going to take an observation by the polar star when you have a continuous sun? There is no night; you cannot have any stars; there is no darkness."

Hansen's Story Only Hearsay. "What is your opinion of the story told by the hero Hansen of the information obtained from your two Eskimos?"

"Well, the Eskimos were bound down by me not to tell anyone where they had been. I should like you to have Hansen here and cross question him yourself. Hansen's testimony is entirely founded on hearsay."

"Knowing that a ship was coming north this summer for Peary, did you not wait for that ship and come direct to New York instead of going to South Greenland and sailing from there to Copenhagen?"

"I knew that the Danish government ship would get me home before Peary's ship."

The explorer's first full day on his home shores brought to him the first unpleasant taste of fame. Visitors began to arrive at daybreak. They came on all sorts of errands. Many of them, it was obvious, were actuated only by curiosity to see the explorer. Others came with ideas to exploit. Among the various proposals that the holder of various patents in the realm of free accommodations in the royal suites of other hotels, men with cigars they wanted Dr. Cook to approve, promoters with schemes to make Dr. Cook rich and themselves comfortable at the same time.

PEARY NEARING HOME

Citizens of Portland, Me., Will Greet Him Tonight.

Portland, Me., Sept. 23.—The state of Maine, within whose borders Commander Robert E. Peary spent his boyhood and young manhood, awaits his homecoming from the far north.

Reaching Portland at 7:45 this evening, Commander Peary will be met at the station by the mayors of Portland and South Portland, militia bands and a large escort of citizens. Redfire is to be burned all along the line of march to the auditorium, where a public reception will be held until 9:30 o'clock. The reception will be followed by a banquet at the Falmouth hotel.

Sailing of the Roosevelt Delayed. North Sydney, N. S., Sept. 23.—The sailing of the Arctic steamer Roosevelt has been delayed owing to the fact that the records and other important manuscripts which were taken from the steamer by souvenir hunters have not been returned.

True valor lies in the middle, between cowardice and rashness.—Cicero.

JUDGE WHO LEADS NEW YORK RACE FOR MAYORALTY.

Of all the men mentioned as possible candidates for Mayor of New York at the coming election Judge William J. Gaynor comes in for the most attention. Judge Gaynor's recent announcement of his candidacy, accompanied by the statement that if elected he would not be deterred by any faction, attracted many independent voters to his cause. Before either of the party conventions assembled Judge Gaynor will have received the endorsement of several independent organizations, chief among which is the body known as the Municipal Democracy. The Judge is a Democrat, but has attracted public attention for years through his attitude of independence of political machines.

A DYNAMITE BOMB

Found in Place Where Presidents Will Meet at El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 23.—A bomb was found last night in the rear of the customs house at Juarez, Mex., a few feet from the platform which has been erected for the meeting between President Taft and President Diaz on Oct. 16.

More than thirty arrests were made. Juarez is across the Mexican border.

The residence of Camillo Arguilles, where the bomb was found, is located a block from the customs house. Don Arguilles is a close personal friend of President Diaz.

Colonel Corella, commanding the regular army in Juarez, said the object found was a small piece of dynamite.

"It was no more than a quarter of a stick," he said. "It was probably thrown there by a revolutionist some months ago when arrests were being made."

Mexican Consul A. V. Lomell of El Paso admits that a stick of dynamite was found but attached no significance to it.

It was said at the Arguilles residence that Arguilles' son found a bottle with a liquid explosive in it with a cap and fuse attached.

Federal Judge Miranda has ordered that no information be given out in Juarez and many conflicting reports are in circulation.

END OF WORLD.

Little Colony in Massachusetts Preparing For It Tomorrow.

West Duxbury, Mass., Sept. 23.—Firm in their conviction that the world will come to an end at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon, a colony of about 300 members of the denomination known as the latter Rite of the Apostolic church are spending what they believe to be their few remaining hours in prayer, song and exhortation.

The scene of the religious chapter on the main turnpike between Boston and Plymouth in this town.

Worldly tasks have been laid aside that the faithful may prepare for the millennium.

None of the faithful appears to have a shadow of a doubt that the world will end tomorrow forenoon. When asked what they will do if the expected event does not materialize most of them refuse to entertain such a supposition.

Some suggest that love feasts be held for ten days or so, while others still say that if the millennium does not come tomorrow it will come next year at the same season.

Occasionally the services at the chapel are suspended long enough to permit a trip to the neighboring pond, where the converts are baptized.

THREATEN TO STRIKE

Wabash Railroad Mechanics Ask For Wage Increases.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23.—A general strike of machinists, boilerfitters, blacksmiths, carpenters and steamfitters in the shops all over the Wabash railroad system is threatened as a result of the failure of the company to accede to demands made by the employees for increased wages and changes in shop rules.

Superintendent Needham, in answer to the ultimatum of the employees, offered an increase of two cents an hour, whereas the men asked six cents increase and proposed a compromise on the rules demanded.

MANY DEATHS IN HURRICANE.

Gulf States Pay Heavy Toll to Fury of the Elements.

DEVASTATION IS WIDESPREAD

As Reports Come In From Outlying Sections the Death List Increases. Fifty-seven Known to Have Lost Their Lives.

New Orleans, Sept. 23.—Gradually New Orleans and the territory surrounding the Crescent city is recovering from the first effects of the tropical hurricane. Fifty-seven human lives are now positively known to have been claimed as victims of the storm and fifty-five others are reported to have been lost in lower Terrebonne parish, but as yet this report has not been authenticated.

The property loss will run into the millions. Miles of territory have been laid waste and crops have been practically ruined. Dwellings, cotton gins and sugar mills have been leveled.

New Orleans is still sadly crippled in the way of railroad facilities and telegraph and telephone communication with the outside world. It was not until last night that the Western Union was able to get a working wire out of the city. Both the Illinois Central and the Louisville and Nashville railroads have suffered heavy loss, miles of their tracks having been washed away. It will be several weeks before the latter will again be running trains over their own tracks.

The death list in the lower portion of Terrebonne parish increased as details were received and now numbers twenty-eight. It is reported that at least fifty others have been drowned or crushed in the flying debris of wrecked mills, dwellings and fishing camps.

Pleasure craft and shipping of all kinds in the Bayou incite were totally destroyed and the loss will be heavy. Storehouses, sugar mills and dwellings of every character at Houma and other villages suffered heavily and scarcely a structure was untouched by the hurricane.

Beginning the first of the two days of his Colorado tour Mr. Taft motored fourteen miles out of Denver to the home of Thomas F. Walsh and at the request of the owner christened as "Clonmel" the estate heretofore known as "Volhurst."

Taking train at Volhurst, with an additional train filled with Colorado people as an escort, the president proceeded to Colorado Springs, where he made a brief address in the public park to a large crowd.

At the end of his first week of "one night stands" he is in splendid health, despite the efforts of the hospitable west and its elaborate and never ending breakfasts, luncheons and dinners. Mr. Taft's voice also is in the best of condition.

Taking train at Volhurst, with an additional train filled with Colorado people as an escort, the president proceeded to Colorado Springs, where he made a brief address in the public park to a large crowd.

At the end of his first week of "one night stands" he is in splendid health, despite the efforts of the hospitable west and its elaborate and never ending breakfasts, luncheons and dinners. Mr. Taft's voice also is in the best of condition.

Beginning the first of the two days of his Colorado tour Mr. Taft motored fourteen miles out of Denver to the home of Thomas F. Walsh and at the request of the owner christened as "Clonmel" the estate heretofore known as "Volhurst."

With the death of Governor John A. Johnson the government of Minnesota passed into the hands of the "Republican. Lieutenant Governor Albert O. ### WEST OF ROCKIES.

President Taft's Train Crosses Great Divide During Night.

Pueblo, Colo., Sept. 23.—The president is today west of the Rock mountains. His train crossed the continental divide during the night and at one time was at an altitude of 10,240 feet.

The president did not feel the altitude and at the end of his first week of "one night stands" he is in splendid health, despite the efforts of the hospitable west and its elaborate and never ending breakfasts, luncheons and dinners. Mr. Taft's voice also is in the best of condition.

PENNSYLVANIA TO BLAZE THE WAY.

The Citadel of Republicanism to Uphold Protection.

TO ANSWER "SIDESTEPPERS"

Stalwart Citizenship of Keystone State Will at the Polls Indorse the Action of Penrose and His Colleagues, in Congress in Defeating La Follette.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 23.—The Republicans of Pennsylvania have accepted the challenge of the opponents of a protective tariff and propose to assert themselves at the coming election by rolling up a great majority for the Republican ticket.

In the recent tariff debates in Washington, men of the type of La Follette, Dilliver, Cummings and others who voted with the Democrats against the Payne bill, warned Senator Penrose and his stalwart Republican colleagues from the Keystone state that they "would have to come to the point of election" if they did not desist in their efforts to pass the measure as agreed upon by the protectionists.

That the people of Pennsylvania, who are benefited more than those of any other state, intend to indorse the action of their Republican representatives in congress upon this subject at the November election is manifest upon every hand.

For Great Popular Vote.

It is proposed that there shall be such an emphatic vote of approval of the policy of protection that the whole world shall have reason to know how Pennsylvania stands upon this issue.

On every side there are evidences of a revival of business due to the passage of the tariff bill.

Mills that were closed for years are being reopened, fires are being rekindled in many an idle furnace, many thousands of coke ovens which were long black and silent are now ablaze and roaring joyous notes of prosperity for labor and capital alike. Steel mills and similar plants are working on full time. Labor is generally employed.

The great textile establishments located in various counties of the state are again busy with a splendid outlook for the future, the shipyards along the Delaware are taking on new men daily, not only to help build the great Dreadnoughts, which the federal government has just contracted for, but to also help construct new craft for the merchant marine, which is already feeling the gratifying effects of the revival of trade and industrial activity.

As a practical evidence of appreciation of the work of Senator Penrose in the framing of the tariff bill, and especially his magnificent services in guarding the interest of his constituents of the Keystone state, a series of testimonials will be given him next month.

First, the workmen of Kensington, the great textile district of the Quaker City, propose to give expression to their admiration for his special efforts in their behalf. During the entire discussion of the tariff, schedules Senator Penrose kept in touch with a committee of the wage earners of this section, and they were advised as to every move of those advocating a reduction of duties which would have meant disaster to the manufacturing interest of the country.

A delegation of women employed in the mills of Kensington, it will be recalled, made a pilgrimage to the national capital to combat the campaign of the society women, who were seeking reduced duties in order that they might purchase foreign-made goods.

Tributes to Penrose.

At a meeting called by the Workingmen's Protective Tariff League of Philadelphia, for Oct. 7, not only will the men of Kensington attend in great numbers, but thousands of women employed in the textile mills have resolved to turn out to cheer Senator Penrose.

There will be speeches from men from the various mills, and possibly one or more of the women will be given an opportunity to address the gathering and to tell what they know of the work of the senator and his Republican colleagues in the senate and house at Washington.

A call has just been sent out to the manufacturers of Pennsylvania, signed by some of the most representative mill owners in the state, who are arranging a testimonial banquet to Senator Penrose to be given in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia on Oct. 16 in recognition of his service to his state and the country in championing the cause of protection to American industries.

This promises to be a memorable occasion.

While these gatherings will be in no sense political, they are indicative of the feeling of the people of Pennsylvania upon the issue that has been squarely drawn by the so-called "downward revisionists" of the La Follette school of western free trade theorists.

The importance of a heavy Republican vote throughout Pennsylvania next November is being dwelt upon by business men and others who were harassed through unsettled conditions during the tariff agitation.

They realize that should the Republican vote in this state in November be small it would at once be commented upon by La Follette and his coterie and pointed to as a verification of their predictions that "the people" would be heard from.

Not only would this be taken as an expression of disapproval of the work of the Republican congressmen from Pennsylvania in support of protective policies, but it would at once give encouragement to the opponents of protection all over the country to reopen the tariff fight and to seek to elect congressmen next year who would vote to change the tariff and thus spread chaos and disaster in every business and industrial center.

The farmers, who are among the main beneficiaries of the new tariff act, whose products have been protected from Canadian and other foreign competition, and who with labor and capital employed everywhere, find a ready and profitable market for everything they have to sell, are taking a deep interest in the present political situation.

Reports from every county in Pennsylvania are to the effect that the farmers will be found supporting the full Republican ticket in November and that they will see to it that their votes shall be cast on election day, Nov. 2.

STATE CAMPAIGN.

Well Under Way—Republicans Making an Aggressive Canvass.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—With the reopening of activities this week the campaign for the election of the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania can be said to be well under way.

Having an exceptionally strong ticket in Judge Robert von Moschisler for justice of the supreme court, Senator A. B. Sisson for auditor general and former Senator Jeremiah A. Sinker for state treasurer, and with every department of the state government under Republican control and administered with exceptional ability to public interest, and after the splendid record made in the successful fight for a protective tariff by Pennsylvania's Republican representatives in congress, the Republican party managers look with confidence for a great popular victory at the polls in November.

While every issue and every condition should overshadow a large majority at the election, Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, has sounded a warning against the dangers of overconfidence. He is urging each committeeman to work as though success depended upon the polling of every vote in his election district.

Judge von Moschisler is taking no part in the campaign, as he holds that a nominee for the supreme bench should not participate in a political canvass, and he is continuing to discharge his duties as a judge in the common pleas court.

His colleagues on the state ticket, however, are out meeting the people face to face and discussing the issues.

State League Convention.

Candidates Sisson and Stober were yesterday in Erie, today they are in Meadville in the morning and Franklin in the afternoon; tomorrow they are scheduled to visit Meadville in the forenoon and New Castle later in the day, and on Thursday they are booked to address a mass meeting to be held in Altoona under the auspices of the State League of Republican Clubs, which will hold its convention there on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

United States Senators Penrose and Oliver and practically all of the Republican congressmen from Pennsylvania are expected to attend the convention, which it is predicted will be one of the most important gatherings in the history of the league.

Besides the two United States senators, among the speakers at the mass meeting will be former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw.

If his duties as chairman shall not interfere, Colonel Andrews will also attend the convention.

Various organizations have met recently, among them the War Veterans' club of Philadelphia, and cordially indorsed the full Republican ticket and resolved to work industriously to get out the vote.

The influence of a large Republican majority at the coming election in Pennsylvania, both upon national and local conditions, will be far-reaching. Should Pennsylvania falter: it would be heralded from one end of the Union to the other that "Protection Pennsylvania" had repudiated the tariff bill, which would mean a catastrophic condition for industrial and trade conditions possible until after the congressional elections next year.

THREE BONDSMEN APPEAR

Miss Jones, Who Stole For Faithless Lover, Keeps Out of Jail.

Pittsburg, Sept. 23.—Although held for court in $5,000 bail Miss Stella Jones, the young woman bookkeeper who embezzled over $3,500 for her faithless lover, Gilbert Egler, did not have to go to jail. Three bondsmen appeared, all expressing their faith in the unfortunate girl and each willing to furnish the entire amount necessary for her release until she is taken before a jury.

One of the bondsmen, William P. Baumgart, a retired hotelkeeper, had never seen Miss Jones before the hearing and knew of the case only through reading of it in the newspapers. He came prepared, if necessary, to subscribe the entire amount of the bond if nobody else would share with him.

Barton, O., Threatened by Fire—Washington, W. Va., Sept. 23.—Fire last night caused by an exploding lamp in the general store of Nick Buck at Barton, O., a small mining town near Wheeling, destroyed the store and three dwellings. For a time the blaze threatened the entire central section of the town.

The Lure of the Mask

By HAROLD MAC GRATH

Copyright, 1922, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Hillard did not stir. Another labyrinth to this mystery! Caprice—Kitty Killgrew's unknown prima donna, and all he had to do was to take the morning train for Venice, and twenty-four hours later he would be prowling through the Campo, Santa Maria Formosa.

Mrs. Sandford observed him curiously, even slyly. Why couldn't his fancy have been charmed by an every-day, sensible girl and not by this whimsical, extraordinary woman who looked like a phantom, a ghost, a duke and kept a king at arm's length as a pastime? And yet—

"Caprice!" he mused aloud. "That isn't her name."

"And I shall not tell you."

"But her given name? Just a straw something to hold on. I'm a drowning man."

"It is Hildegard."

"That is Hildegard."

"She prefers it to Hildegard."

"Hildegard, it begins with H. May I keep this letter?"

"Certainly not. With that extra mia? Give it to me."

"It is Hildegard. Shall I seek her?"

"I did not say so. I was not thinking of her after tonight. If you ever see or recognize her, avoid her. It may sound theatrical, but she is the innocent cause of two deaths. These men sought her openly too."

"What has she done?"

"She made a great though common mistake."

"Political?"

"Don't be foolish. I am sorry I let you see the letter. I forgot that she told me her hiding place."

"Her hiding place?"

"Mr. Hillard, she is as far removed from your orbit as Mars is from Jupiter's. Forget her."

"My orbit is not limited. I shall seek her. When I find her I shall marry her."

"If I like you too much, Mr. Hillard, to stand by and see you break your heart against a stone wall."

"Don't you see, the deeper the mystery is the more powerful the attraction becomes?"

The door to the lift opened and closed noisily, and Hillard turned negligently. A man sauntered through the room. The moment he came into the light Hillard's interest became lively enough. It was the handsome Italian with the scar.

"Who is that man?" he whispered.

"Only a few weeks ago I bumped into him on coming out of the club."

"Do not attract his attention," she answered.

"Who is he?" he repeated.

"A Venetian officer and a profligate. I entertained him once, but I learned from him that I had been ill advised."

Hillard saw that this subject would admit of no further questions. The man with the scar had committed some inexcusable offense, and Mrs. Sandford had crossed him off the list.

It was after 10 when Hillard and his friend took their leave.

"We shall leave in the morning for Venice," said Hillard.

"Venice? How about Rome and Florence?"

"Which would you prefer, Rome and the antiquities or Venice and—Kitty Killgrew?"

"Kitty in Venice? Are you sure?"

"She is there with La Signorina Caprice. Oh, this is a fine world, after all, and I was wrong to speak ill of it this morning."

"If Kitty in Venice I'm an ungrateful beggar too. But I do not see why Kitty's being in Venice excites you."

"So? Well, then, write that Kitty's mysterious prima donna and my lady of the mask are one and the same person."

"No!"

The two without further words marched along the middle of the Corso to the hotel. The concierge started toward them, but suddenly reconsidered and retreated to his box of an office. The attentiveness of his movements passed unnoticed by the two men, who continued on through the lobby into the first corridor. Hillard inserted his key in the door of his room and swung it inward. He paused on the threshold with good cause.

Two dignified carabinieri rose quickly and approached Hillard. There was something in the flashing eyes and set jaws that made him realize that the safest thing for him to do at that moment was to stand perfectly still.

CHAPTER X.

CHARACTERS.

"SIGNOR!" began Hillard calmly, "before you act will you not do me the honor to explain this visit?"

"It is not he," said one of the carabinieri. "It is the master, and not the servant. This is Signor Hillard, is it not?" he continued, addressing himself to Hillard. "The signor has a servant

by the name of Giovanni?"

"Yes. And what has he done to warrant this visit?"

"It is a matter of seven years," answered the spokesman. "Four years ago he attempted to kill an officer in Rome. Luigi Moro, who was then interested in the case in Rome, though he recognized Giovanni in the street today, inquired of his name."

"At any rate, it looks as though Giovanni had been forewarned of your visit," answered Hillard. "And may I ask what is the name of the officer Giovanni attempted to kill?"

"It is not necessary that you should know."

Hillard accepted the rebuke with becoming grace.

"And now, signor," with the utmost courtesy, "permit me to apologize for this intrusion. We shall wait in the hall, and if we find Giovanni we shall gladly notify you of the event."

"Hello! What's this?" exclaimed Hillard, going to the table when the officers had gone. It was a note addressed to him:

My kind Master—The carabinieri are after me, but not to harm me. I was not born to rot in a dungeon. I am going north. As for my clothes, send them to Giacomo, the tailor, who lives on the road to El Deserto. He will understand. May the Holy Mother guard you should we never meet again!

Hillard passed the note to Merriew.

"What's that? I was not born to rot in a dungeon. I am going north. As for my clothes, send them to Giacomo, the tailor, who lives on the road to El Deserto. He will understand. May the Holy Mother guard you should we never meet again!"

"What's that?" he repeated.

"Don't be foolish. I am sorry I let you see the letter. I forgot that she told me her hiding place."

"Her hiding place?"

"Mr. Hillard, she is as far removed from your orbit as Mars is from Jupiter's. Forget her."

"My orbit is not limited. I shall seek her. When I find her I shall marry her."

"If I like you too much, Mr. Hillard, to stand by and see you break your heart against a stone wall."

"Don't you see, the deeper the mystery is the more powerful the attraction becomes?"

The door to the lift opened and closed noisily, and Hillard turned negligently. A man sauntered through the room. The moment he came into the light Hillard's interest became lively enough. It was the handsome Italian with the scar.

"Who is that man?" he whispered.

"Only a few weeks ago I bumped into him on coming out of the club."

"Do not attract his attention," she answered.

"Who is he?" he repeated.

"A Venetian officer and a profligate. I entertained him once, but I learned from him that I had been ill advised."

Hillard saw that this subject would admit of no further questions. The man with the scar had committed some inexcusable offense, and Mrs. Sandford had crossed him off the list.

It was after 10 when Hillard and his friend took their leave.

"We shall leave in the morning for Venice," said Hillard.

"Venice? How about Rome and Florence?"

"Which would you prefer, Rome and the antiquities or Venice and—Kitty Killgrew?"

"Kitty in Venice? Are you sure?"

"She is there with La Signorina Caprice. Oh, this is a fine world, after all, and I was wrong to speak ill of it this morning."

"If Kitty in Venice I'm an ungrateful beggar too. But I do not see why Kitty's being in Venice excites you."

"So? Well, then, write that Kitty's mysterious prima donna and my lady of the mask are one and the same person."

"No!"

The two without further words marched along the middle of the Corso to the hotel. The concierge started toward them, but suddenly reconsidered and retreated to his box of an office. The attentiveness of his movements passed unnoticed by the two men, who continued on through the lobby into the first corridor. Hillard inserted his key in the door of his room and swung it inward. He paused on the threshold with good cause.

Two dignified carabinieri rose quickly and approached Hillard. There was something in the flashing eyes and set jaws that made him realize that the safest thing for him to do at that moment was to stand perfectly still.

"It is not he," said one of the carabinieri. "It is the master, and not the servant. This is Signor Hillard, is it not?" he continued, addressing himself to Hillard. "The signor has a servant

by the name of Giovanni?"

"Yes. And what has he done to warrant this visit?"

"It is a matter of seven years," answered the spokesman. "Four years ago he attempted to kill an officer in Rome. Luigi Moro, who was then interested in the case in Rome, though he recognized Giovanni in the street today, inquired of his name."

"At any rate, it looks as though Giovanni had been forewarned of your visit," answered Hillard. "And may I ask what is the name of the officer Giovanni attempted to kill?"

"It is not necessary that you should know."

Hillard accepted the rebuke with becoming grace.

"And now, signor," with the utmost courtesy, "permit me to apologize for this intrusion. We shall wait in the hall, and if we find Giovanni we shall gladly notify you of the event."

DIAGRAM OF NEW YORK'S NAVAL PARADE; VIEWS OF THE FLEET BY DAY AND NIGHT

Besides the Dutch, British, German, French and Italian warships that will be in the Hudson-Fulton parade at New York there will be 52 vessels of the United States navy. Among these are the Connecticut, Vermont, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Mississippi, Idaho, Georgia, New Jersey, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Virginia, Wisconsin, Maine, Missouri, Ohio, North Carolina, New York, Montana, Chester, Birmingham and Salem. There are to be two water parades on Sept. 25. These take place in the Hudson river from the Battery to Spuyten Duyvil. In the afternoon parade the Connecticut and the Half Moon will lead the greatest fleet of excursion and pleasure craft ever assembled in American waters. These vessels will encircle the battleships, and each of the 70 or more fighting machines will fire a salute to the Half Moon and Connecticut. At night the warships will be illuminated, and the pleasure boats will again encircle them. During this proceeding every searchlight in the international fleet will play upon the passing vessels, the battleships and the city. The line of warships at anchor will be more than eight miles long.

Great Armada Gathers for Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

HALF MOON IS COMMISSIONED

Quaint Little Vessel, Copy of Hudson's Famous Craft, Will Play Stellar Role in Big Naval Parade on Saturday.

New York, Sept. 23.—The armada which is to represent the United States at the Hudson-Fulton celebration stemmed up New York harbor to its anchorage in the Hudson river above Grant's tomb.

The four armored cruisers of the British squadron delayed their arrival until this morning. The three German cruisers came in during the day. The Italian cruiser Acta passed into the harbor before the American battleships and proceeded to her anchorage in the North river, off Thirty-fourth street, where she was joined a few hours later by her mate, the Etruria, which came in through the sound from Bridgeport at dusk.

Thousands of New Yorkers crowded all points of vantage from the battery northward and along Riverside drive to witness the arrival of Rear Admiral Schroeeder's fleet. The battleships, which were in single file about 400 yards apart, looked very grim and businesslike. The Georgia led the fleet up the harbor, followed by the New Jersey, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Virginia, Wisconsin, Missouri and Ohio and the armored cruisers Minnesota, North Carolina and New York and the scout cruisers Birmingham, Salem and Chester. The fleet's flagship, the Connecticut, led the second division, composed of the Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Mississippi, Idaho and Vermont. Behind the fleet were the auxiliaries Culgoon, Prairie and Panther.

Half Moon Placed in Commission. There was an impressive Hudson-Fulton ceremony at the Brooklyn navy yard when the Half Moon, the copy of Hudson's famous craft, which is to play one of the stellar roles in the celebration, was formally placed in commission. Bands played the national air of Holland, the old Dutch colors waved, and the Netherlands commissioners hoisted their colors above the quaint little craft.

Since its arrival from Holland the boat has been in the hands of sail-makers and riggers, being furnished for its triumphant appearance. The man who hoisted the flag was Lieutenant Lam of the cruiser Utrecht, who will inaugurate Hudson when the Half Moon moves up the North river next Saturday.

There were formal honors for Fulton, too. His grave in old Trinity churchyard was the scene of a pilgrimage of members of the Fulton Memorial association, which decorated a monument erected in his honor.

Grand Admiral von Koester, personal representative of the Kaiser and the German people at the celebration, reached New York on board the steamship Bluecher. Admiral von Koester will not have active charge of the German naval delegation, thus leaving the way clear for the formal precedence of Admiral Sir Edward Seymour.

AVIATORS GETTING READY

Curtiss Will Attempt to Fly Around Statue of Liberty.

New York, Sept. 23.—A flight from Governors Island across the lower bay and around the Statue of Liberty probably will be the first aviation event during the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Glenn H. Curtiss, winner of the first international aviation contest, announced that he would attempt to make this flight as soon as possible after he has assembled his machine. Wilbur Wright, who has his machine almost in flying shape, met Curtiss for the first time since the latter returned from his European triumphs. The meeting, which took place in Wright's shed on Governors Island, was cordial. No flying exists because of the suit which the Wright brothers have brought against the Herring-Curtiss company for alleged infringement of patents.

JOHNSON BURIED TODAY

All Activities Throughout State Pause Five Minutes During Burial Hour.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 23.—The body of John A. Johnson, after lying in state in the capitol rotunda, was taken this morning to St. Peter by special train. The body was accompanied by St. Paul city officials and members of several local fraternal organizations and personal friends of the late governor. The funeral was held from the Presbyterian church at St. Peter and the interment was in the family cemetery.

All branches of commercial and manufacturing activities paused for five minutes during the funeral service. The action planned was statewide and all cities and towns followed the lead of the twin cities. The railroads of the state and the city railroads of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth stopped running for five minutes during the funeral hour.

This is Positively the Best Suit Value We Have Shown

And this Statement is the Absolute Truth.

They are handsomely tailored and very stylish suits and they have just arrived in time for an enthusiastic welcome.

In the First Place they are modern to a degree; the coat cut in the new 44-inch model with ten-inch vents headed by buttons.

It is a semi-tight model, having plain tailored sleeves finished at the cuff with two buttons. They are lined with a superb quality of satin. The collar is the plain notched mannish collar so much in vogue this fall.

The materials are Herring-Bone Worsteds, Bedford Cord and Tailored Worsteds. The colors are Navy, Green, Grey and Seres.

In the Second Place these suits are easily a $25 value in every respect of tailoring, material and style. We have just fifty of them to sell at $18.50.

$18.50 Fifty women can start the season with a snappy stylish up-to-the-minute suit and have $6.50 left from the $25 she meant to pay and she'll have just as much satisfaction from this suit as many are being sold today. It is a wonderful bargain value.

New Silks Open the Autumn With Marvelous Sights.

You could not describe a beautiful sunset to a person who had always been blind. Well, it's almost as difficult to tell you of the beauty of this array of new autumn silks.

Color harmonies that go back to the Armenians designs, that trace their origin to the crude efforts of the ancients.

There have the makers sought and gathered inspiration for as rich and radically different silks as ever Connellsville has ever looked upon. There are taffetas, messalines, crepe de chanes and fancy silks of all descriptions.

We direct your special attention to a 36 inch black taffeta at 89c. It is of exceptional quality, far beyond what you will expect to be shown at so little a price.

The showing is broad and comprehensive, far surpassing any of our previous displays.
